The Dispatch printed yesterday as having been sent from General Sherman, by direction of the President, to Governor Kellogg, of Louisiana, was a forgery. No doubt it produced the effect desired by its authors, and for the instant of its general belief sustained the McEneryites. If it did not encourage the fanatics to extraordinary murder and riot, the unfortunate phase of the matter is that the forged dispatch will go into the country parishes without the contradiction which appears in our news columns this morning. Imagination fails to conceive the bloody results which will follow from this heartless deception. The Thugs and Dugas will consider themselves licensed by Federal authority to plunder and murder at will.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

The New York Tribune, in an article upon Mr. Chase, makes some very curious assertions, to which the majority of the Republicans will not, we are certain, subscribe.

First of all it says that Mr. Chase is "the king of the McEneryites who thought the dog dung stank." While Mr. Chase was alive the most enthusiastic of his friends and admirers would not have dared to demand this place for him, and we do not see why it should be conceded to him now that he is dead. The Tribune says that it does not wish to challenge "comparisons with others." This is silly. When it puts in so great a claim for Mr. Chase the comparison is inevitable. Mr. Chase cannot stand it.

Again, the Tribune says, "he is the principal author of the Treasury, and prepared to organize the financial system upon which the war of the world depended." Here, at least, there is no room for discussion. On this point we think the margin for discussion is far wider than upon the former. When Mr. Chase put his first loan upon the market it was a hopeless failure until Mr. Jay Cooke came forward and showed him how to make it the magnificent success that it was. But the Tribune has not a word to say about Mr. Cooke's magnificent machinery that he put into operation.

The Tribune adds another laurel to his crown: "From the hour of his investiture as Chief Justice he retired from active politics." This is untrue. It is within the personal knowledge of the writer of this that he did actively interfere in politics, and we are certain that the editor of the Tribune can substantiate what we assert if he will only tell the truth.

Mr. Chase did not, it is true, come down into the arena of our politics and wrest publicly with the contestants, but no man in this country during the last eight years has done more to sustain the cause of justice than he has.

We do not mean to detract from the great name and fame of the dead Chief Justice, but there is no use in putting forward in his behalf claims to which he is by no means entitled, or in attributing to him virtues that he did not possess.

THE WAR OF RACES IN VIRGINIA.

According to the Richmond Examiner, the "real issue" in the coming campaign in that State is "white or black." Other questions such as free railroad laws and repudiation of the State debt, are to be submerged in the engrossing contest between the white and black races for supremacy.

Now, we submit that this is simply absurd.

This is because it leaves the assertions of white citizens in Virginia, that they have no sympathy towards the blacks, and incendiary because it arouses the worst passions of race against race. But it is a pity with the "subdivision" which the fire-eating class represented by the Examiner accord to the constitutional amendments. In other words, having solemnly professed through the pledged faith of the State, when at the close of the war, that it was repudiated, it is now determined to make a political distinction "on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude," these dishonest Bourbons exert themselves to the utmost to perpetuate and keep alive the flames of discord. At the same time they cry aloud that the carpet-baggers and Northern fanatics are incendiaries who only object is to array the blacks against the whites. Verily the Examiner still needs reconstruction—such reconstruction as will induce us to believe that the law makes strict provision for the protection of the negro, and the maintenance of his civil rights.
